Paul,

In 2018, Port Tampa Bay supported Light The Night through sponsorship and we nearly broke records because of it!

Since then, we have invested over $70,000,000 in the North Florida region alone, providing life-saving resources to our patients.

I'd love to find time over the next few weeks to talk about 2023 being our best year yet - and how Port Tampa Bay can be a part of the magic! Talk soon!

Dear Mr. Anderson,

On behalf of the all the employees of International Ship Repair and Marine Services, Inc., I write to thank you for helping us attain funding for the U.S. Department of Transportation Maritime Administration 2022 MARAD Small Shipyard Grant.

Your letter of support was very much appreciated and played no small role in making this new venture possible. We now have the ability to purchase new equipment to help our shipyard run more efficient and stay competitive in the ship repair industry.

We are very excited about our ample opportunities the Marad Grant funding will contribute to the maritime industry here in Tampa and the continued success of our ISR family. Thank you, again!

Marad Announces 2022 Small Shipyard Grant Recipients

July 22, 2022

The U.S. Department of Transportation's Maritime Administration (Marad) has announced it has awarded $19.6 million as part of the Small Shipyard Grant Program to 24 shipyards in 19 states in July 2022.

The program aims to help small shipyards make capital improvements or provide training for workers in order to boost efficiency, competitive operations, and quality ship construction and repair. Through the Small Shipyard Grant Program, the Maritime Administration provides up to 75 percent of a project's estimated cost to shipyards with fewer than 1,200 production employees.

International Ship Repair & Marine Service, Inc. from Tampa, FL was awarded $880,758 to support the purchase of a plasma cutting table, a 36,000-pound forklift, welding equipment, and a 20-ton overhead crane.

"Small businesses are the lifeblood of the American economy, and small shipyards play a critical role in America's maritime industry, helping us get the goods we depend on every day," said U.S. Transportation Secretary Pete Buttigieg. "These grants will help modernize small shipyards in communities across the country, creating and protecting local jobs, strengthening America's maritime industry, and securing our economic future."

"These grants will allow small businesses to do what they do best, which is to build essential infrastructure while creating long-term and well-paying jobs for Americans," said Maritime Administrator Ann Phillips. "Better equipment means increased productivity and more ships and watercraft moving through our small shipyards. Growing this industry further supports and strengthens our maritime industry."

International Ship Repair and Marine Services Inc. employs up to 200 persons in the high season and serves approx. 150 vessels per year.

International Ship Repair and Marine Services Inc. is a full-service shipyard located in Tampa FL in the Port of Tampa, physical location 1616 Penny St Tampa FL 33605 in Hillsborough County. They have been in business for more than 32 years. The facility is ideally located for vessels trading on the southeastern and east coasts of the U.S., Central America, South America, and the Caribbean.

Dear Paul,

On behalf of the Board and staff of Glazer Children's Museum, thank you for your gracious donation of $5,000 in support of Cirque de l'Imagination.

Your gift supports our mission to create a learning laboratory where children play, discover, and connect to the world around them to develop as lifelong learners and leaders.

With the help of generous friends like you, the Glazer Children's Museum has evolved into one of Tampa Bay's largest and best resources for early childhood education and hands-on learning. More than ever, children and families need play as healing and respite and the Museum fills this need for our community. Glazer Children's Museum is proud to ensure access to families throughout our communities as a way to honor children and help them learn through the power of play. You have made this possible.

We are so glad you share our enthusiasm for this work and we look forward to continuing our partnership with you toward collective impact and ensuring success for all of Tampa Bay's children. Thank you for helping us keep the play going!

Dear Mr. Anderson:

Congratulations on receiving Florida 500 : Transportation award from Florida Trend's: Florida 500. Thank you for your hard work to grow Florida's economy and create opportunities for families across the state.

Throughout my time as Governor, I worked to make Florida the best place for families and businesses to thrive. Thanks to our focus on cutting taxes and reducing burdensome regulations, Florida businesses created nearly 1.7 million jobs in just eight years. This incredible success would not be possible without the continued growth of companies like yours in our state. My goal in the United States Senate is to continue building on Florida's tremendous success so every Florida family has the opportunity to live their American dream.

Congratulations again, and thank you for helping to create opportunities for Florida families. You have my best wishes for many more years of success.

Nature and Industry Can Co-exist

We must all prepare to adapt and transform our port operations to ensure seaports can support green infrastructure and alternative energy needs. Port Tampa Bay and our tenants are up for the challenges and opportunities ahead

Port Tampa Bay has risen to the challenge of being an industrial seaport that remains deeply committed to environmental sustainability. As one of the first ports in the nation to have a dedicated environmental department, Port Tampa Bay is deeply committed to environmental sustainability and natural resource protection. I'd like to share a few examples that highlight Port Tampa Bay's plan for energy transformation, sustainability solutions and green infrastructure.

Our port is located on Tampa Bay, Florida's largest open water estuary, an estuary of national significance, and we take our role in protecting our neighboring ecosystem seriously. An example of Port Tampa Bay's sustainability efforts includes the creation of two islands in Hillsborough Bay, where material removed from shipping channels is stored. These islands have become home to globally significant populations of nesting birds, including the American Oystercatcher and Least Tern, some of the state's rarest species. We continue to find innovative beneficial uses for dredge spoil materials, such as the filling of a deep oxygen-poor dredge hole in McKay Bay and several ongoing beach nourishment projects. Additionally, our award-winning restoration projects create tidal wetlands, mangrove forests, and improve water quality and habitat.

Unique to any port in the country, we own and manage over 200,000 acres of sovereignty submerged lands in Hillsborough County, held in trust for the public. Our submerged lands management program and multiple restoration projects have added to the ongoing recovery of Tampa Bay's habitat and water quality.

Additionally, our port is ready to rise to the ongoing challenge of climate change through preparedness and resiliency efforts with local, state and federal partners, and the port community, to build resiliency into our port operations. Port Tampa Bay was the first port in the nation recognized as "Storm Ready" by the National Weather Service. On the Port Resiliency Index, developed by the Gulf of Mexico Alliance, we scored 95%. Each year, our port hosts an annual hurricane exercise in advance of hurricane season. Additionally, we have developed an off-site operations center in Winter Haven, Florida, which allows the port to operate its vital programs in case it is shut down due to an emergency. This year our preparedness efforts were tested, as our port and our community braced for the possible impact of Hurricane Ian. Thankfully, our port was spared from major damage but our neighbors in Southwest Florida were not as fortunate and our hearts are with them as they work toward recovery.

Port Tampa Bay conducts annual storm water inspections and hosts annual pollution prevention trainings with our staff and tenants to protect our waterways. Additionally, we recently collaborated with the National Stormwater Trust on a new smart pond. During Hurricane Ian, the water level in our smart pond was automatically lowered by almost four feet before the first hurricane bands began to impact the region. That extra storage enabled the capture of over 175,000 cubic feet of untreated stormwater, preventing its discharge into the neighboring community and nearby Tampa Bay.

Our port and tenants reduce air emissions by scheduling truck arrivals to reduce idling of trucks in and around port operations. We also lobbied for the construction of the Crosstown Connector, creating a dedicated truck lane from I-4 to the port, reducing emissions and wear on local roads. In Spring of 2023, our port will welcome upgraded electric gantry cranes to replace the traditional diesel cranes. The entire port is a designated Brownfield Redevelopment Area, and has spent millions of dollars cleaning up contaminated industrial sites.

Port Tampa Bay is committed to protecting the quality of the air and water in and around the port by continuously working with our tenants and the port community to minimize the impact of day-to-day operations. Our port collaborates with environmental leaders to take part in clean-ups, to brainstorm ways to prevent litter and debris from entering waterways, and to get the community involved in the sustainability of our region. In 2021, our port hosted the first-ever Great Port Clean-Up, removing more than 19,000 pounds of trash and marine debris from several sites in and around our port. This event received the Award of Excellence from AAPA and has served as a model for other seaports in the United States. The 2022 event removed more than 36,600 pounds of trash and debris. Port Tampa Bay is a member of the "Hillsborough Trash Free Waters Partnership," committed to keep
